DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-3, 5, 6, 9-11, 14, 16-17, 19 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kanack (US patent 5,526,172), in view of Chapin et al., hereinafter Chapin (US Patent 6,022,225), both newly cited.

Regarding claims 1-3, 9, 17, and 21, Kanack discloses in figure 7, a capacitor comprising a fixed charged plate 46b (not shown in the figure, but could be present therein. See column 17, lines 8-15) disposed on a semiconductor substrate 43; a fixed actuator plate 46a disposed upon the semiconductor substrate; a moveable charge plate 42 disposed above the fixed charge plate, and a stiffener 45.

Kanack does not disclose a movable actuator plate disposed over the fixed actuator plate.

Chapin discloses in figure 2, a movable actuator plate 41 in order to move closer together members 27 and 17. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to dispose a movable actuator over the fixed actuator in order to have even stronger attraction/repulsion force between the capacitor plates of the Kanack's structure, and consequently produce new capacitance values from the variable capacitor.

Regarding claims 5, 6, and 19, the movable charge plate of the Kanack reference has a solid surface and a broken surface suspension (the two pieces, which are on the suspensions 44 and not contacting the stiffener) having an undulating configuration (that is when the part that contacts the stiffener bends downward, then the mentioned two pieces have an undulating configuration).

Regarding claims 10, 11, 14, and 16, there is a flexible dielectric layer (shown as element 31 in figure 1), capable of suspending the movable charge plate.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 4, 7, 8, and 18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
